

The Macon County Economic Development Board of Directors has accepted the resignation of Executive Director Sue Goulder.

After ten years of service, Goulder is leaving MCED to pursue new opportunities aligned with her current aspirations. As a board, we are thankful for her diligent, hard work and especially her evident love for this community. Goulder said of her time as Director, "It has been a wonderful experience and I have learned so much. I wish nothing but the best for the future of the organization and Macon County."

The Macon County Economic Development Board has begun evaluating the Director's roles and responsibilities as we strive to place the county in the best place for future growth and development. This evaluation is being done to better align the job position with the new mission and strategic plan of the MCED. When complete, the board will post the Executive Director job opening and description.

To help maintain communication, organization, and progress in our office, Sharon Scott, the Executive Director of the Macon Area Chamber of Commerce, will serve as the interim point of contact for Macon County Economic Development. Sharon will work alongside current administrative staff to connect area resources, businesses, and citizens during the search for and Executive Director.
